Information for referring doctors

Micro-invasive carpal tunnel release is a novel way of doing carpal tunnel release different to endoscopic or open carpal tunnel release.

For potential same day procedures (available to patients who need to travel from Melbourne) please organise and send through nerve conduction studies. I will not be able to book patients for a same day procedure without confirmatory nerve conduction assessment.

I will assess all patients with ultrasound during their consultation

Patients should be referred specifically for the ultrasound assessment and procedure to:
